

WHEAT INFLUENCED BY LARGE RECEIPTS

Prices Again Decline, but This Is Checked by Government Report and Less Favorable Crop Outlook—Corn Weaker.

New York, December 10.—Prices in domestic wheat markets declined early in the week, the cause being chiefly the influence that governed during the preceding week. Receipts of wheat in the Northwest on both sides of the border continued heavy, being far in excess of estimates. Over the past two or three weeks practically every trader has anticipated a material falling off in the movement. It is certainly perplexing to see receipts so large and stocks accumulating.

Minneapolis and Duluth have already received 61,000,000 bushels, while country mills have ground 1,900,000 bushels, and the Dakotas must have shipped 25,000,000 bushels reserved for seed. Country elevators now have 14,000,000 bushels, making a total of 123,000,000. It is therefore assumed that the crop in the three big States, Minnesota and the Dakotas, must have been larger than stated by the government report, namely 112,000,000 bushels. In view of such a large movement from a small crop, it is naturally argued that the time must be close at hand when receipts will fall off sharply. It should be borne in mind that an unusually large percentage of the crop was inferior, some of it good enough only for seed. The downward tendency in the market was checked partly by a somewhat encouraging outlook, European markets being influenced by conflicting but somewhat unsatisfactory reports respecting the outlook in Argentina, where the weather has been unfavorable at times, especially in the province of Santa Fe, where there were excessive rains. Hence estimates of the crop in that country have been reduced, some placing the total at 200,000,000 bushels, against 205,000,000 bushels previously. The strength in wheat was also partly ascribed to the extremely big decrease in the open market supply, 4,036,000 bushels, against 2,400,000 bushels a year ago.

Reaction in Market Later. Late in the week wheat prices reached a still lower plane, although there was a small recovery afterwards. Receipts in the Northwest continued fairly large, instead of falling off, as expected. Meanwhile receipts at winter wheat points were small. The decline was attributed to liquidation by speculators and selling by aggressive bears. There seems to be practically nothing in the situation to justify depression other than the so-called big visible supply. We have on

COTTON GENERALLY FIRM DURING WEEK

Covering Movement Caused Gradual Advance Until Recovery of 20 to 25 Points Was Shown Over Previous Saturday's Prices.

New York, December 10.—Until yesterday cotton showed a greater degree of firmness during the week. The market had closed weak last Saturday at the lowest range of prices for the season. December options were then 8.97; January, 8.69; March, 8.74; May, 8.82; July, 8.91, and October of the next crop, 8.95. From last Monday a covering movement among the shorts and some speculative buying for a firm advanced the market gradually, until yesterday afternoon prices had shown a maximum recovery of 20 to 25 points throughout the list from Saturday's prices.

On publication of the Census Bureau's report on the opening of the market yesterday, a line of speculation was launched to cause most of the buyers for both long and short accounts to enter in the week to turn sellers. Aggressive Southern and local banks took advantage of this and of the prevailing belief that the government's annual crop estimate for yesterday afternoon will be 15,000,000 bales, to hammer the market again. Thus, yesterday's decline extended 22 to 25 points from Thursday's closing quotations, and 22 to 25 from the highest prices of Thursday, with every option in the list lower than last Saturday's previous lowest recovery, with the market closed weak at the lowest prices yesterday, with December at 8.92, January, 8.64, March, 8.70, May, 8.80, July, 8.88, and October, 8.90.

Census Ginning Report. The Census Bureau announced the total amount of the crop ginned to December 1 at 15,214,000 bales. This appeared larger than some of the best cotton men and crop experts had been figuring on, but was 15,000 bales smaller in the total than the amount of the crop ginned after December 1 of the previous five years. There was ginned after December 1, last year, 1,128,000 bales, exclusive of linters, against 1,195,000 in 1909 and 2,077,000 in 1908, and 2,714,000 in 1907, against 2,955,000 in 1906. Thus, the amount of cotton should be ginned from the beginning 1 to the end of the season as was ginned in the same period last year, would be 14,250,000 bales. The question is whether the total yield from yesterday's ginning in the total is the same amount as the percentage of the crop the ginning figures indicate. Figuring on such a percentage at present is all guesswork. There are two more ginning reports remaining from the Census Bureau before its final report on the total crop is rendered on March 20.

RELIGIOUS CENSUS OF LYNCHBURG TAKEN

Preferences of 12,000 of the 20,000 White Residents Tabulated for Churches. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lynchburg, Va., December 10.—While the checking of the work done in taking the religious census of the white residents of the city a month ago has just been completed, nearly 12,000 of the 20,000 white residents have been tabulated and their religious preferences are now being compiled for the use of the various churches of the city. Some few houses, which were closed at the time the census was taken, are seen yet, but it is expected that the list report will be completed in the next ten days or two weeks. The data already in hand shows the following preferences, viz: Baptist, 4,221; Methodist, 1,015; Methodist Protestant, 519; Presbyterian, 1,529; Episcopal, 1,261; Christian, 618; other preferences, 111. The data compiled, although not complete by any means, shows there are 677 persons members of the church, who have no congregational preference, and 623 who have no church relation or preference.

Will Encourage Apple-Growing. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Durham, N. C., December 10.—The Durham Corn Club yesterday awarded the prizes for the best yields in Durham county this year, and an singular thing happened. A girl really won the prize. This was unexpected, and the patriotic men raised a purse of $7.50 and also gave her a prize. It was Miss Addie H. Ragan, sixteen years old, who, on one acre of land, with one mule, raised seventy bushels of fine corn as one will see in the United States. And she did it at a cost of $1.50 for one bag of acid phosphate. She did it at the work herself. The list of all the prizes is as follows: Miss Addie, with her sister, Miss Nannie, aged eighteen, planted three-fourths of an acre in tobacco, which they sold on the Durham market yesterday, and it netted them $24.21. In awarding the boys' contest prizes, the first prize of $25 in gold was given to Leon Nichols, of Durham, N. C. D. No. 6. His yield was 123 1-2 bushels to the acre. The second prize went to Lawrence E. Crabtree, of Bahama, who contributed 116 bushels. Others ranged from 91 to 75, and a large number of prizes in money went to those who managed to draw more than 75 bushels from the soil.

Several Important Cases on Docket—School of Agriculture at Leesburg. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Leesburg, Va., December 10.—The December term of the Circuit Court in Loudoun county will convene in Leesburg on Monday and Wednesday. This case will come up on the fourth day of the term. Attorney Moncreux and Cloth of Alexandria, and Cecil Connor, of Leesburg, will represent the defense. A school of agriculture will be held at the Lincoln High School building on December 12, and continue for four days, on Tuesday and Wednesday the subject will be "Fruit"; on Thursday and Friday the subject will be "Dairying." Each day's session will begin at 10 o'clock A. M. This school will be conducted by professors from the State College of Agriculture at Blacksburg. James H. GAINS IN BUSINESS ARE WELL MAINTAINED

New York, December 10.—Business maintains its recent gains with further betterments in some directions. The financial market at this time shows no response. Security values tended downward during the last week, with only a partial recovery toward its close. The movement showed toward the market during its rise last month had discounted the improvement in business conditions which has occurred so far. Other influences were at work, moreover, to depress market values. Chief among these were political developments, higher money rates, and announcement of plans for the reorganization of the Wabash Railroad and the Allis-Chalmers Company. Speculation was influenced to a considerable degree by the prospective readjustment of the Wabash finances, notwithstanding the fact that the unsatisfactory positions of the railroad had made it long evident that some step was probable. The same is true of the Allis-Chalmers Company. Attention was drawn to other low-priced securities, which it was felt might be similarly situated and vague reports of the possibility of further reorganizations exercised a depressing influence. The assembling of Congress, with the prospect of a long session during which matters of greatest importance to business are to be considered, to restrict stock market operations. The prevalent feeling that a turn for the better had been made in business is supported by reports of the commercial agencies based upon conditions at all the industrial centres. Farmer evidence was found in the unexpected good showing of the copper producers' monthly statement, and the gain in unfilled tonnage reported by the United States Steel Corporation, which was twice as large as most estimates. President Frank A. Vanderlip, of the National City Bank, however, took the view, in a published interview, that it was on the day-to-day business which was improving, and that "the attempt to adjust business to a law" had brought about the most serious situation of many years for the business interests of the country. It had been expected that money rates would relax this week, with the December 1 interest and dividend payments out of the way. Maintenance of comparatively high rates throughout the week tended to check stock market activity. The unexpectedly poor showing of December 2 furnished a favorable statement of the banks last week showed a reversal of position which may find its immediate effect in the course of money rates.

GOVERNMENT REPORT WILL GOVERN MARKET

New Orleans, December 10.—It is very difficult to say what is likely to happen in the cotton market this week, because the government's estimate of the crop will be issued on the opening of the session. The figures probably will govern the course of prices after that time. The estimate will be put out by the Department of Agriculture at 1 o'clock Monday, New Orleans time. The figures will count bales of 500 pounds weight, and will not include linters. The trade expects about 11,750,000 bales; anything under that level will have a bullish effect on prices unless mainly used to control the market. Anything over it, 750,000 will probably stimulate a great deal of short selling, as it would be

WILL ENCOURAGE GIRL WINS BOYS' APPLE-GROWING CORN CLUB PRIZE

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Durham, N. C., December 10.—The Durham Corn Club yesterday awarded the prizes for the best yields in Durham county this year, and an singular thing happened. Northern Men Back of Proposed Orchard—Libraries in Public Schools.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) Lynchburg, Va., December 10.—The Buckingham Improvement Holdings Company, a corporation of large capital, has just acquired 2,000 acres of land between Arvonla and Gold Hill, four miles on the south, and purposes planting this entire acreage in apple trees, thus forming a commercial orchard upon a larger scale than has ever been attempted east of the Blue Ridge Mountains. The land acquired is now largely grown up in woods and undergrowth, but the soil is well suited to fruit growing, being near the fine orchard of Dr. P. W. Boatwright. The company also purposes encouraging apple-growing throughout this section, and to that end will erect barrel and storage factories, cider mills and cold storage plants, all in the most approved manner. It is reported that the capital stock of the company is $300,000. Most of the backers are Pittsburgh and Cleveland men.

There is a decided movement in the county towards establishing libraries in all the public schools. The patrons contributing a large portion of the funds to meet the amounts contributed by the county and the State. Six excellent libraries were ordered for various schools last week, and another order for an additional six libraries will be sent in within a few days. The libraries are placed in the schools, but are managed in each case by some cultured citizen of the neighborhood where the school is located. In every case the libraries have books for general reading, and it is the purpose of the authorities to make the libraries serve the patrons of the schools as well as the pupils, thus making the schools neighborhood centres and widening their influence.

At the last stated communication of the church grounds, Rev. John Spenser, who was conducting a revival, was forced to suspend preaching, and the school was closed for some days. Dr. Tucker finally got the disease under control without the loss of a life.

A 2,000-acre tract of land, covering a large portion of Stone Mountain, in the northwestern portion of Lynchburg county, was recently sold to Richmond parties by Hon. H. D. Flood, commissioner. The land, though unimproved, is suited to fruit-growing, and will probably be put down in apple trees. It is understood that the tract is being sold for less than $2 an acre.

MANY BURGLARIES IN WILMINGTON

Police Seem Unable to Cope With Situation—Big Exposition Planned. Wilmington, N. C., December 10.—Wilmington is now in the clutches of the midnight marauder. For the past month the city has averaged at least one burglary a night, and for the past fortnight two or three every night. The police seem entirely unable to combat with the marauders or put an end to their burglarious ways, as they have been unable to find any clues. During the past week more than ten houses were robbed, while there were numerous attempts at house-burglaries. So daring did one of the robbers become that he operated within a block of the police station, and visited the home of a brother of Councilman B. C. Moore, Commissioner of Public Safety. Within a radius of two squares four robberies were committed one night.

One of the most daring depredations of the series was committed last Thursday night, when the store of Charles H. Hewlett, corner of North and Orange Streets, was visited. The burglar smashed in the front door of the establishment. Then, in a vain attempt to open a large safe, but which he demonstrated to the intruder was not a professional job, the combination was broken off entirely. The safe was not entered, but it was so badly damaged that it will have to be sent to the factory, even before it can be repaired.

During the summer many burglaries were committed, and when the police finally managed to arrest a young white man, Barney Leah, who had been in connection with the robberies, it was thought the depredations would stop, but this was found not so, because the burglaries continue. There is talk of the city purchasing bloodhounds to track the criminals, but the most feasible plan seems to be to work through detectives, perhaps colored slouts.

In full force, three bands of gypsies have met in Wilmington and pitched their camps just to the south of the city. The most prominent Gregory John, alleged King of the Gypsies, and those who figured in the sensational case some months ago near Vadesboro, N. C., in which the king arrived on night to 1007 a special tax and had beaten in submission, several of the followers and assaulted the wife of one of the subjects. Already the bands have commenced to raise a disturbance, although the police are keeping them under surveillance. Three of the members were arrested in the Recorder's Court yesterday charged with stealing stovepipe. It was charged that they purchased a quantity of stovepipe from a firm here, and while loading the pipe on a wagon man, they saw many gypsies, because they employed two lawyers and the case was hard fought at the trial, the court reserving decision until tomorrow.

License was recorded at the courthouse yesterday by which the Carolina Cotton and Southern Industrial Exposition Company, recently organized under a charter granted by the State, secured a big site for its exposition. The site is a vast tract about half-mile south of Wilmington, and near the Cape Fear River. In all it consists of over 300 acres, and the company proposes to hold a big exposition there next year, as being on a tremendous scale. It will require that length of time to get things in readiness. Dr. Russell Bellamy, president of the company, was in Washington the past week, and is now in New York in the interest of the project.

With its annual meeting this week, the Cape Fear Golf Club, one of the best known clubs of its character in the South, passed out of existence by selling its grounds to the Cape Fear Country Club, which owns extensive grounds, including big links to the east of the city. New Officers were elected to serve during the ensuing term as follows: W. J. Dick, president; Thomas W. Davis, vice-president; Milton Calder, secretary and treasurer; J. W. Leuven, captain of the greens; Charles E. Taylor, captain of tennis; Messrs. Thomas H. Wright and M. F. H. Gouverneur, with the officers, the governing board.

The club is looking forward to a big season, and is to make notable improvements on the grounds, an expenditure of $6,000 being now under way, under the direction of an expert, while the board, secured a big expert, Isaac Mackie, a noted one of the links.

There is already a handsome club building on the grounds.

COTTON GOODS REVIEW

New York, December 10.—Trading in the cotton goods markets was on the quiet side during the week. The interest in print cloth and yarn goods was as information and not a vast trade. On bleached cottons and wide sheetings the application of jobbers was steady at the new low prices. Some of the sellers have taken about as much business on the low basis as they could get, and are not pushing sales. They are feeling in several instances to accept future orders on 4-4 quarter bleached cottons on a basis of 7-1/2 cents for fruit of the loom. Trade in the heavy goods is maintained the same, gray and colored yarn materials. This is due to the lighter stocks that are held and the better sold condition of the large plants.

Prints are quiet, with a moderate amount of export business passing with Central American goods. New-Yingham deliveries are being made rapidly. Denims hold steady and the leading mills are well conditioned for some months to come. A similar condition exists with the large manufacturers of goods of various kinds.

The government report on cotton ginning made little or no impression among buyers. Until the estimate of the crop comes to hand, buyers seem inclined to think that cotton markets will be lower and goods may be had when needed. Of the 11,000 pieces of print cloths sold for contract delivery, and all were ordered.

JUDGE SKEN WILL PROBE ALLEGED IRREGULARITIES. Preeling, Va., December 10.—Some uneasiness appears to be manifested over the prospect of an investigation of the recent election in this county. A message received from Judge Sken is in effect that he intends to probe the matter to the greatest extent. The understanding prevails that as between the buyer and seller, the one who shall first inform the grand jury will be released, and the prosecution will fall on the other party to the irregularity.
